TOWN HALL MARRIAGE FORUM

On Monday, May 8th, the UMJCA Marriage Committee is hosting a Town Hall event at Shaare Shalom. There have been many engagements in the past year, yet many challenges still face singles in our community. In anticipation of the event, we will like to share some pointers for parents to keep in mind when their children begin dating. Parents should lower their expectations and be more realistic when it comes to their kids dating. Keep an open mind and don't reject anyone based on observance or status differences. When your kids approach you about a potential partner, be careful how you speak about him or her. Even facial expressions can affect your child's decision. Teach your kids to look for important things in a partner, such as good values, a najib personality, someone who is going to be a good wife/husband and a good parent. Not superficial things, such as looks and wealth.

CHAMETZ FOR CHARITY

PASSOVER RICE INFORMATION 2017

As per phone conversations with rice importers, Rabbi Eliyahu Ben Haiim has confirmed that the following brands of rice are 100% pure, no additives, preservatives, or vitamins. Therefore, they are suitable for use for Passover. The following brands are: Colbeh, Royal, Pari, Deer, Zebra, Empire, Lal Qilla, Dunar, and Kohinoor. Brown Rices have not been checked. ## How Adrian Met Samantha by Leah Hakimian

Dr. Leah Hakimian currently researches the question: How do Jewish couples meet and marry? In the 90's she founded two nonprofit Jewish matchmaking programs, and continues to champion the role of community in helping singles meet. She writes on a volunteer basis to inspire her readers and to encourage them to keep their "antennae up." She resides in Jerusalem and Great Neck, New York. HaChodesh now has the privilege of sharing her stories with you.

Samantha Natalie Wolf, 26, and Adrian Kirrin Cohn, 29, are both believers in Tikkun Olam, repairing the world. And they practice what they preach. The two New Yorkers met when they were helping to rebuild homes damaged by Hurricane Katrina.

In the spring of 2013, Samantha brought a group of high schoolers to New Orleans for six weeks to volunteer for a nonprofit program whose mission is to shrink the time between disaster and full recovery. Adrian was then a manager of this program, SBP (formerly, the St. Bernard Project). He recalls: "I noticed Samantha almost immediately at the orientation." Samantha smiles. "I too felt an instant connection."

On their first date, Adrian brought along his dog, Fitz. He explains: "It relieves the pressure of a first date." And it was crucial for Adrian to find out how a potential partner felt about dogs. He learned that Samantha had grown up with two canines and loved them as much as he did. Soon, Adrian had two best friends – Samantha and Fitz.

When Samantha's program ended in April, she returned to New York to look for a job and an apartment. At the same time, Adrian "coincidentally" was visiting his parents in Manhattan and invited Samantha to join them for dinner. She reciprocated and Adrian met Samantha's family in Port Washington, New York. There was a pivotal moment in their conversation when Adrian asked, "So, are you coming back to New Orleans?"

Adrian's family goes back to Louisiana for seven generations and he was thrilled when Samantha booked a one-way ticket to New Orleans. They loved the life in New Orleans, including their friends, the music and the food. Still, they decided to move back to New York in 2015 for new job opportunities. "We also missed our parents," adds Samantha.
